YOUR distinguished LONDON ADDRESS

WELCOME TO RAFFLES LONDON

At Raffles London at The OWO you step into rooms where the history of the 20th century was made, exquisitely modernised for 21st century tastes.

The OWO was once inhabited by Britain's most famous statesmen and spies from Lord Haldane to Sir Winston Churchill. Novelist Ian Fleming, creator of James Bond, took inspiration from the building for his stories, and many of the subsequent Bond movies had scenes filmed in the building.

Today spacious rooms and suites offer an experience of refined contemporary elegance and beauty, uniquely enhanced by their historical features and the remarkable essence of place.

A meticulous eight-year restoration has seen thousands of expert craftsmen and women transform The OWO (formerly Britain's Old War Office) into an exciting new destination for London. Handsome state rooms and grand offices have been transformed into 120 spacious guest rooms and suites with views of Whitehall and Horse Guards; while the building's majestic architectural features lend themselves to dazzling entertainment and celebrations, in true Raffles style.

SIGNATURE suites

ALL IN THE DETAIL

Raffles London at The OWO has a total of 54 diverse suites including 15 Junior Suites, many with superb interconnectivity and awe-inspiring views. The most impressive is the unique Whitehall Wing at over 500 sqm and stretching the entire length of the building from turret to turret. Each of the signature suites has a unique story to tell, given their location at one of London's most historically significant addresses. Staying in one of these suites combines the excitement of heritage and authentic architectural detailing with the design flair of the late Thierry Despont and all the modern comforts and services provided by your personal Raffles Butler.

A SPACIOUS SENSE OF PLACE

Featuring a spacious seating area and room to relax, these suites have striking works of art and inspiring views of either Horse Guards Avenue, Whitehall Place, the grand Edwardian courtyard or Whitehall. Serene and calm, the Junior Suites are decorated in Edwardian Baroque style, in keeping with the architecture of The OWO.

Raffles London at The OWO occupies a magnificent Grade II* Edwardian Baroque building in Whitehall, the epicentre of British Government. A sophisticated neighbourhood with a central location, Whitehall is close to Waterloo and Charing Cross train terminals, and accessible however you choose to arrive. The River Thames, Horse Guards Parade, Buckingham Palace, St James's Park, the Houses of Parliament, and Westminster Abbey are all within walking distance, and the West End theatres and the nightlife of Covent Garden and Soho are only a heartbeat away.
